CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

Thursday, Sept. 25, 1941

The inauguration of California's new 55-mile-an-hour speed limit, closely coinciding with the opening of Campbell schools, appears to have been the "go" signal for numerous local drivers who seem to be laboring under the delusion that the new speed law applies to residential streets as well as to the open highway.

Fortunately this is not the case, and the sooner our aspiring Barney Oldfields become appraised of the fact, the better chance the rest of us will have to be on deck for next blossom time. (A nice time to be around.)

Two streets favored by local speeders are Campbell avenue—as always—and Minna street, newly opened through to Third street. Both of these thoroughfares are much frequented by school children, who cross and recross them several times daily at the peril of their lives.

For several weeks before school opened, and at the height of the packing season, Campbell was visited every afternoon by a very efficient state highway patrolman who passed out warnings and tickets with a fine disregard of the offenders' stations in life. And for a time it was quite safe to cross Campbell avenue almost any place. (He was, unfortunately, probably unaware of the situation on Minna street.)

Personally—and many share the opinion—I believe it would be a fine thing if Capt. Ed Tressler of the county highway patrol detail would have the aforementioned officer resume his daily visits to Campbell. Maybe he could make our local "hot drivers' league" call the meeting to some kind of order and adopt the new business of preserving the lives of Campbell school children.

Members of the board of directors, Campbell chamber of commerce, have decided to sponsor a booth at Santa Clara county's fair in October.

For several reasons the expenditure of money in that participation seems to be more a matter of local pride than the exercise of sound judgment—for at least two reasons:

1. Orchard City Grange has under way plans for a rather comprehensive display advertising the Campbell community as a whole, some or all of which might easily be duplicated in the chamber of commerce booth;
2. The chamber of commerce is in no position, financially, to do justice to a situation certain to demand the disbursement of considerable money—money that would just as certainly have to be raised by subscription and which, should it be raised at all, is already due on previous obligations.

Being publicity director of the chamber of commerce the writer may be considered by some to be out of line in making these remarks—and perhaps I am. The chief reason for their utterance, however, is to see if we can scare up some citizen with a good

DICK MORTON ADDRESSES CLUB WOMEN MONDAY

Richard Morton of the University of Santa Clara and Campbell addressed the members of the Country Woman's club at their annual opening day luncheon on Monday.

Introducing the theme for the club year, "United States and Her Possessions," Mr. Morton spoke on the topic, "What Does the United States Mean to You?" He warned the group against making defense and security our ideal rather than democracy. Mr. Morton said, "We should think of what our democracy will be in the future and we all have a service to perform in helping to preserve that democracy. We should insist that all are created equal and do all we can to help keep our democratic ideals alive." As he closed his very stimulating talk, Mr. Morton said, "It would be a good idea if we all read our Constitution of the United States at least once a week as a reminder of the real meaning of our democracy."

Also on the program were songs by the Country Woman's Club chorus, which has been coached by C. P. Klassen of the high school faculty. Mrs. Virginia Rutherford was accompanist. The following members participated: Mrs. J. D. Blaine, Mrs. Rex Cornell, Mrs. W. E. Grattan, Mrs. Ira Grim, Mrs. R. E. Hangar, Mrs. J. O. Leverton, and Mrs. Hubert Wagner. The chorus sang "God Bless America," "Southern Melodies," "Processional," and "United States of America."

Mrs. G. E. Jeffers, president of the club, presided at the luncheon and introduced the program.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"My Father Was A Quiet Man," by Tommy Wadelton.

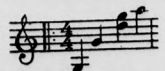

Tommy is a most remarkable boy to have written such a thoroughly delightful book. Of course you don't know whether it's delightful or not if you have not read it, but let me tell you what I witnessed with the last readers.

Four members of the family were relaxing in easy chairs in a cozy living room, listening, while the fifth fellow read aloud. (It's perfect for group reading). After a few chapters he had to stop. He was laughing so hard that tears were running down his cheeks. Another member of the family offered to take over. He giggled through a couple of chapters and hesitated for breath while everyone joined in hilarious discussion of the book. They really had fun.

What a break for your book mark to have had it read aloud; otherwise I would not have known what it was all about. Once it was started, I was of no use for it was not closed until it was finished. It is not a big book and the type is good size.

Why is it so funny? I can just hear you asking me that question. Well, first of all it's the way Tommy tells his story, and secondly its the sweet simplicity of it. You see Tommy is only fourteen years old and when he was twelve he wrote a book about his mother entitled "My Mother Is A Violent Woman." It's funny too. He enjoyed a tremendous success with his first book so he decided to try another and his father was the hero of the one I am telling you about. His father is an army man and has been for years, and Tommy relates in his book how he got to be an army man, about the many and different places they have lived, how his father met his mother, and other vital incidents in his family life. As you can plainly understand, Tommy's mother helped him gather his material as his father did not sanction the writing of the book and refused to give out any information about himself. As Tommy said, he had to bring himself and his mother into the story quite a bit as they were very close to his father.

The tale is in a sense a bi-

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

War is always paid for in the sweat and sacrifice of the men and women at home as well as the blood and lives of the men who fight on battlefields.

Liberty and national security—the things we love dearly—are never bought cheaply. It is an inexorable rule of life that important things come hard; that vital objectives are always difficult of accomplishment.

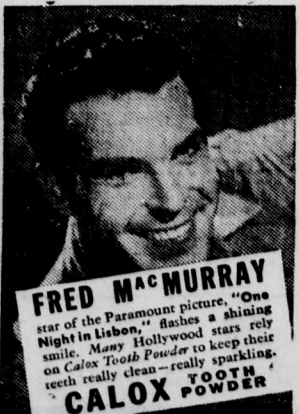

Most American citizens still know those fundamental truths and are fully prepared to make stern sacrifices during the emergency which now confronts this country.

Talked-of sacrifices are rapidly becoming every-day realities. The greatest tax bill in the history of the country is going through Congress—and every American citizen, poor or rich, will shortly feel its impact. Housewives already encounter shortages and rising prices. Farmers already are encountering increased costs and difficulty in getting farm labor. Boys who expected to be released from the Army by now are getting ready to do another hitch, because Uncle Sam has need of them. Small industrialists and business men, who manufacture or deal in non-defense commodities, have had their supply of materials shut off by priority restrictions and, in many cases, are faced with either bankruptcy or heavy losses.

The period of "sweat and sacrifice" has actually begun. And there will be more of the same to follow. The hard hand of war-time necessity will reach into every home in California and every home in America before the battle against dictatorship and world slavery is ended.

California's share of the federal tax bill, according to current estimates, will reach the enormous total of $700,000,000 a year—a bill so huge that few citizens as yet have any real appreciation of the sacrifice it will entail. But rank and file citizens, no matter how hard hit their pocket-books may be, will pay their share of the bill with little complaining if they are convinced of two things: First, that their country is in jeopardy and can only be saved by their sacrifice. Second, that the money is actually being spent to improve the nation's defense, not on political extravagances.

Under the circumstances, it is highly regrettable that Congress has taken no action to make political officeholders do a bit of "sweating and sacrificing" along with the people back home. Secretary

Christmas Seals Arrive In County

Over 6,500,000 Christmas Seals arrived in Santa Clara county this week according to Robert B. Kennedy, president of the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis association.

These seals will go on sale for one month beginning Nov. 24 to raise funds for the support of the local activities to fight tuberculosis.

Plans for the 1941 Seal sale are already under way with a number of local organizations already offering their services. Seal sale chairman, James E. Fitzgerald, is organizing his co-workers whose names will be announced later.

Morgenthau requested the House Ways and Means committee several months ago to make a billion dollar cut in non-defense expenditures as a practical means of easing the burden on the taxpayers who must shoulder the new burden for defense spending. He suggested specific ways to accomplish the reduction by slashing appropriations for NYA, CCC, WPA, public works, roads and other non-essentials. A short time later the United States Chamber of Commerce estimated that the cut could be raised to two billion dollars without damaging any worthwhile function of government. Yet no such action has been taken; the frills and luxuries are still continued at a time when official Washington is calling on all of the people (except in official Washington) to make every possible sacrifice in defense of liberty and country.

Garden Forum Sponsors Autumn Festival Oct. 3-4

An Autumn Festival will be held at the Sainte Claire hotel in San Jose on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3 and 4. This festival is being sponsored by the Garden Forum under the direction of Bertha M. Rice, who directed similar affairs at Treasure Island during 1939 and 1940 with numerous and able committees aiding the plan.

An educational theme is planned for the display which will include many interesting forms of plant life such as acorns cones, nuts, berries, grasses, brilliant foliage and specimens of shrubs, trees, and flowers. A special room is being reserved for school displays. A small replica of the Court of Pacifica will be reproduced with the original working model of "Pacifica" by Ralph Stackpole. Original working models of sculpture from Treasure Island are also being loaned for this occasion by noted artists.

The educational displays will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Friday, Oct. 3 and from 9 a. m. till noon on Saturday, Oct. 4. There will be brief talks by speakers of authority and discussions and an informal but excellent musical program both days. A play will be presented on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 4 by pupils of Vaude Putnam Sanders.

Admission to the display will be a "free will offering" at the door to the British War Relief committee to be devoted exclusively to a Christmas fund for British children.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Garden Forum luncheon on Saturday, Oct. 4 at 12:30, as well as the displays. Reservations may be made at the Sainte Claire hotel.

Orchard City Grange

A meeting of Orchard City Grange was held at the I. O. O. F. hall in Campbell, Tuesday Sept. 23. Mrs. Catherine Robertson and Mrs. Margaret Sibley, recently of the San Jose Grange joined the local organization.

J. C. Gordon, lecturer, talked for the county fair committees. He stressed the great need of someone to take care of the booth at the fair.

W. W. Lester threw some light on the building project for a new hall. Because of the defense program the government has restricted many unnecessary projects.

Carl Ryser told about the coming Grange convention in Santa Barbara Oct. 21. The headquarters will be at the Carrille Hotel in that city.

The entertainment for the evening was furnished by the Juvenile Grange orchestra under the direction of Mervyn Keesling. Their selections consisted of several stirring marches, a Hungarian dance, two caprices and closed with a medley of national songs.

There was also a tap dance by Nancy Bartholomew, a ballet dance by Dottie Gay McCormack, and a Gypsy dance by both. The dancing girls were accompanied by Mrs. Virginia Rutherford at the piano. The Dickerman twins favored with two vocal duets and Louis Hughes played two piano solos.

The program was closed by a speech by the business manager of the orchestra, Carl Ryser. Refreshments and dancing followed in the banquet hall.

Campbell Day at the county fair has been set for Saturday, October 11.

War Helps Springs

Sharon Springs, N. Y., has become more famous and better known, now that the European war has made it unsafe for Americans to travel to famous springs on the other side for their health. Americans have discovered that Sharon Springs surpasses such famous spots as Carlsbad, Aachen, and Baden-Baden, etc. Mud bath treatments are taken with mud from the bottom of a lake in an extinct volcano crater of Mount Helena, near Naples, Italy. In combination with Sharon Springs water, it is said to be valuable for the treatment of rheumatism.
